

Sementis

Varieties that challenge agro ecological issues, from field to fork

Breeding late-blight resistant varieties for a sustainable future

Sementis, an ambition born from the field

Sementis, a French company located near Limoges, in South West region, specializes in the development, production and trade of French seed potatoes.

Sementis was founded in 2000, initiated by seed potato companies from the South and Central regions, who decided to join forces to pursue a common goal : to maintain the dynamism and increase the competitiveness of a region, historically recognised for its territories favorable for potato production.

High-quality seed potato breeder

Sementis mainly develops varieties from its partnership with the French potato breeder GROCEP (87).

To study the performance of our hybrids in targeted areas, we set up numerous trial platforms with our local partners. These experiments, tested across multiple terroirs, are spread over 10 sites throughout Europe.

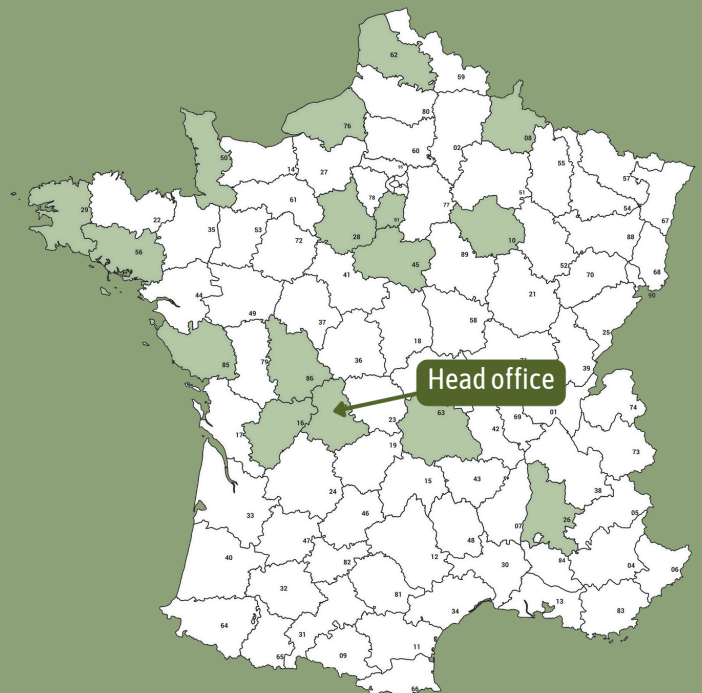

French certified seed potatoes grower

Covering a total area of 350 Ha, our production is spread over approximately forty French farms.

It extends over the three main potato seeds growing French regions. The wide diversity of growing regions helps reduce production risks related to the pedoclimatic conditions of the environment.

To ensure the quality of our seeds, we provide technical and agronomic support to our partner seed potato growers.

A wide and innovative range of varieties

With its extensive and exclusive varietal portfolio, Sementis offers concrete responses to consumer expectations and to specific needs of various segments of European markets.

Recognised for our varieties that are particularly appreciated in the fresh market, we are constantly adding to our range, thus addressing an ever expanding range of markets.

Environmental and societal transitions reinforce our selection of resilient varieties, adapted to current and future agroecological production methods. Resistance to biological pests and diseases, drought resistance, reduced inputs, storage hardiness and taste qualities are the main criteria on which our selection is based.
